

2009/2010 Disclaimer

Live Timing and TimeSlips Online are dependent on the available data captured from the track/series timing computer and the delivery of that data is dependent on the Internet connection from the track. Although we do our best to make sure these connections are working properly, we cannot be held responsible for things outside of our control.

Some tracks/series provide audio and video feeds in conjunction with the timing information. This is a supplement to Live Timing and TimeSlips Online and is not available at all tracks/series.

If you can't get data from your track/series, you should notify them. If you would like your track to also provide audio and video you should let them know.

If you have any questions, please send us an email at info@1320go.com.
